The spring colt should be as gentle as a kitten by this time and know what a halter is for.

Hold on to some of the clover for spring feeding. It is just when the cows get tired of timothy.

It is absurd to expect pullets to lay during the early winter when they were not hatched until June or July.

A chick that is stunted because of lack of good food at any period of growth, never is profitable as a layer or a breeder.

Horses with tender feet need lots of attention. It should be remembered that a horse can do more than his feet will stand.

With the present prices of hogs it will pay well to purchase tankage, shorts and other protein feeds to supplement corn.
The hogs will grow better, fatten better, have better health and take on better finish with a variety.

A good teamster and plenty of hard work, working the horse blind with kicking strap, is perhaps the best way to manage a kicker. Remember, if the head is checked up high, this will have a tendency to keep his hind end down.

The goose that laid the golden egg is a back number when compared to the American hen with her annual output worth three billion dollars.

Anything that will destroy weeds is worthy of the farmer's attention; anything that will maintain the fertility of land demands his attention. Sheep will do both, and are therefore entitled to the attention of every grain grower in a dryfarming country.

An advantage of asparagus over annual vegetables is that when once established it will thrive and produce food in one place for many years without the trouble of annual planting. It is a very hardy and resistant plant, not much affected by insects and disease and it will grow and produce a wonderful amount of tender shoots each spring even with neglect and mistreatment.

The interest in bee keeping on the farm is annually growing. It has been proved that it is a branch that can be made to yield a larger profit for the same amount of outlay, and a less expenditure of labor and money, than any ordinary branch of agriculture.

Many a good cow has been excited by harsh treatment, by being run through a narrow gate or by having dogs set upon her, until she has sustained some permanent injury in consequence. On most farms the boys are expected to take care of the cows and it is a great mistake not to show them plainly what the result of such usage is likely to be, and to insist that they treat the cows with kindness.

A certain amount of plowing must be done in the fall for the fall crops to be planted. At this season, often, there is time for breaking ground that can be more conveniently done now than next spring. As a rule, where time and equipment will permit, it would be better for soil and crops if more land were plowed in the fall or early winter.

When feed is short it is economy to feed night and morning in the mangers.
The manger saves feed. It makes a little more manure in the barn, but that in itself is worth while. You are more likely to haul the barn manure on to the fields.
A feed night and morning in the mangers enables you to give the dairy cows a little extra treatment, and this, with the foraging they do during the day, will give the dairy cows a chance to commensurate with the work you expect them to do.

The fields and gardens produce a large quantity of food for fowls that would not otherwise be utilized, while the farm poultry establishment opens a way for the farm boy and girl to make a little money out of a work that is a nature story, interesting and profitable as well, and it is one of the few kinds of employment they can get into that will not tax their physical strength. Properly handled, the farm flock can be made far more profitable than it is now, though on a good many farms the poultry is already paying large profits over expenses of establishment, care and feed—Agricultural Epitomist.

LIGHT

The obtaining of the best light possible for the store in order to display the goods to the best advantage is an important problem. Gas will go far toward solving this problem. It gives a steady, white light at little cost. When properly maintained there is no better artificial light. For the business man it will prove valuable. Anything that attracts the public is a good advertisement. Judging by this standard a well lighted store is a good advertisement. Further, as gas shows the material in its true colors, there will be no disappointments when the goods are examined by daylight. Gas light is economical and convenient. Consider these facts and act at once.

It is strange that so many men make fools of themselves when there are so many others who desire to do the job for them.

NATHAN D. CANTERBURY, DEAD.

Another of Weymouth's Most Social and Active Citizens Called Home.

After but four or five days' confinement to his home, N. D. Canterbury passed away at an early hour last Sunday morning. Mr. Canterbury was an only child of Nathan and Elizabeth (Bates) Canterbury and was born in East Weymouth Sept. 14th, 1837.

Decades of school days were spent in the district schools of East Weymouth, and supplemented with a few years at the Thayer academy, Braintree, at the completion of which commenced his business career in the boot and shoe factory of his father, eventually becoming a partner in the business and later on the retirement of the senior conducted an extensive business for several years as N.
D. Canterbury & Co. and still later as Canterbury & Haskell and on retirement from it several years ago devoted himself to banking and real estate brokerage.

Mr. Canterbury was for more than twenty years closely identified with the East Weymouth Savings bank and for fifteen years up to its last annual was its president, retiring at that time on account of his health which has been sometimes since a very severe illness with pneumonia several years ago.

While active in business Mr. Canterbury has not been far from civic and political matters around him, boy and man, he was always associated intimately with the Congregational church of his native village, an active member of the Sunday school and for many years a member of the executive committee of the church.

In politics Mr. Canterbury was a republican and it was among the front workers for many years, serving on the town and other committees and representing the district (then Weymouth and Boston) in the legislature of 1872, 1878 and 1879.

His immediate family, survivors are a wife, two daughters and a son.

Funeral services were held at his late home Tuesday afternoon and consisted of scripture reading by Rev. Walter H. Conroy, eulogy by Rev. Daniel Evans, prayer by Rev. Emory L. Bradford.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives, friends and business associates and the burial was in the family lot at the Fairmount cemetery.

Funeral services were rendered by Rev.
W. H. Commons. The bearers were: W. H.
Emerson, C. B. Cushing, J. A. Raymond and M. E. Hawes.

REV. CHARLES CLARK.

New Pastor at North Weymouth.

The Pilgrim Congregational church of North Weymouth, having extended an unanimous call to the Rev. Charles Clark, pastor of the church in Weymouth, Mass., Mr. Clark has accepted the call and will enter on his duties October 1st.

Mr. Clark and family will occupy the parsonage, which is being thoroughly renovated. Mr. Clark comes to North Weymouth after serving eight years as pastor of First Congregational church, Millers Falls, Mass.

He comes highly recommended by the Council, called for his dismission, for his earnestness, genial personality, and special fitness for the work.

The new pastor will be the tenth in the service of Pilgrim church in its sixty years of history.

His first service will be held Sunday morning, Oct. 6th, to which all are especially invited.

Monday Club.

The first meeting of the Monday Club of the year 1912-13 will be held at Old Fellows Opera House on Monday afternoon, October 7th. The club is composed of Belmont, very prominent in the State Federation, will speak on Home Economics. The club is composed of clubs at Los Angeles, California. Mrs.
William McLean will serve as hostess.

Tickets for Gentlemen's night, which will be held on Oct. 21st, will be on sale at this meeting. Each member is entitled to one free ticket, all other guests tickets to be paid with the treasurer at the door at 25c each.

Old Colony Gas Co.

The new colony gas in South Braintree is a valuable asset. The Old Colony Gas Co., is being highly praised for their hearty co-operation in enabling merchants in this district
to install at such a small expenditure these brilliant shadow destroyers.

W. R. C. Notes.

Corp 102 are to entertain Gen. James L.
Bates Camp 26, S. V., on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, at supper and social.
C. A. R. has been elected to the position of Post 58, G. A. R. is requested to be present on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, for the entertainment which begins at 7.30. The entertainment will be a small expenditure for the supper.

School Committee.

The regular monthly meeting of the school committee was held Tuesday evening at the town office. All the members were present. A delegation of citizens from Ward 1, headed by Messrs. James Coleman and Isaac McLean, appeared before the board in support of a petition presented to the board asking that the children of that ward be given the same hours of study as in the other parts of the town. Since the beginning of the fall term the children of the first three grades to the number of 80 are attending school but half time on account of the crowded condition of the schools. At the present time four more rooms are needed as the other grades are also crowded. It is the unanimous opinion of the committee that more school room should be provided at once. There seems to be no vacant store or other building in that ward at the present time where a school could be established, and as an outcome, the citizens of Ward 1 are to ask that a special town meeting be held and money appropriated for a four room addition to the Athens school building or a new school building.
The latter plan seems the more feasible as with four rooms added to the Athens school, it would only relieve the present strain, as that part of the town is growing rapidly, and it will only be a question of a year or two before another school building will be necessary.

The board appointed the following school physicians and transient officers: Dr.
A. Drake, Athens and Adams schools; Dr. J. C. Fraser, Washington and Jerfson; Dr. Joseph Chase, Jr., Humphrey; Dr. F. P. Virgin, Hunt and Lincoln and Trafalgar schools; Dr. K. H. Granger, Shaw and Pratt; Dr. E. N. Mayberry, Bates and Howe; Dr. Thomas A. Watson and Miss Kate Thayer, were enjoyed.

King's Daughters. Union.

The King's Daughters of Weymouth and East Braintree spent a most enjoyable evening with Mrs. Frank O. Wellington, Wednesday. A special car from Weymouth brought a large number of ladies and many members came from other places. The beautiful home was elaborately decorated for the occasion. Music of the hour and a dainty lunch, presented by Mrs. Thomas A. Watson and Miss Kate Thayer, were enjoyed.

No. 52.

The Field Of Calm.

[Written for the Gazette and Transcript.]

If for you the summer season means a time of relaxation, you are probably just now beginning to realize that the winter is quite a different affair. School has begun, clubs have started anew, church organizations have planned new programs of work, and your own private plans for personal improvement are clamoring loudly to be fulfilled.

This refreshing sense of a new page to be filled with something worth while one of the chief pleasures we enjoy as the cold weather comes on. We are thoroughly possessed of the idea that, come what will, this shall be a banner year, a winter in which we shall accomplish something.

The hectic flush of excitement so commonly attendant upon those who plan what they will do must not be mistaken for the glow of real health. Too many people burn up their enthusiasm in planning, so when the time comes they find themselves left with nothing to do.

Even with the best intentions in the world, one's excitement may not be his limitations and the first thing he knows he has pledged himself to help one cause and another all has much to do to find time for so many duties.

Then trouble begins, a trouble known as "nervous exhaustion," and for it there is no known remedy.

From remotest times men have desired for their lives that cost money. Simple pleasures have never been popular.
A consumptive will usually prefer powers and pills to copious draughts of fresh air and sunlight. When duty and duty former cannot. So it is not surprising that few people pay heed to the remedy for nervous exhaustion, which is to establish oneself in a field of calm.

We carry about with us an atmosphere of the thought of our life and how we take it. Our life is the factor we may not be able to change, our attitude towards it may.

Suppose your engagements for a certain week are more than you like them to be and you see no way to reduce their number, you can still maintain your poise if you accept them tranquilly and refuse to be driven by them. The day is just what you need, such and such, when you should you fret and fume?

What you cannot accomplish today must wait until tomorrow. If you terminate to live in a field of calm, the affairs of tomorrow will not distress you.
Each duty will come in its time and be disposed of with swiftness and ease.

When we come to analyze the matter, we usually find that the little lost here and there is largely responsible for our rushed feeling. It is possible to discipline ourselves to the point of losing no time, and when you do this, when duty is done, another can be attacked immediately, and if there is no other for half an hour, your duty is done and can be used for some personal profit.

Small personalities, without much to do but to bother about, that the public may take note of their affairs. Large, really important, individuals work very quietly.
They think it necessary to save nervous energy.

There is a great power for good in the field of calm with which we may surround ourselves. Into it we may retire when we need bracing for difficult duties.
Within it we may rest securely insulated against damaging shocks.

Men's Club of C. M. A.

The Men's club of the Clapp Memorial Association opened their season of 1912 and 1913 under most flattering circumstances. There was a reception from 10 o'clock to 10:30 when the party was held to the audience room and were led by president, Hon. Dr. W. H. Commons, and Hon. W. H. Commons, chairman of the Harbor and Public Land Commission, who was the special guest and speaker of the evening.

When all were seated at the tables the president called upon Rev. Dr. Grant to invoke Divine blessing and then came a season of discussion of well prepared and finely served banquet at the conclusion of which Mr. Dr. Commons opened the later exercise by a cheerful and original discussion of the subject of "The Future of Boston," a brief review of the first year of the club and concluded by reading that one little song, "The Men's Club of C. M. A." by Mr. and Mrs.
Dallas Lore Sharp on "What is a Fantasy?" with an introduction of Mr.
McNary who received a round of applause as he rose to speak.

Mr. McNary's subject was "Harbor and Public Land Improvement," dealing with the further development of Boston harbor and the Old Colony Gas Co., is being
highly praised for their hearty co-operation
to install at such a small expenditure
these brilliant shadow destroyers.

He emphasized the need of an immediate development of the great South Boston wharf which has never been utilized for lack of proper railroad connection. Boston has no through rail road to the great garden producing west, to the cattle railroad of the country and to the lumber lands of the northwest. He cited a recent instance of a shipment of lumber from Michigan to Hingham and the short haul from Boston to the terminal point only seventeen miles, away was more than the long haul from Michigan to Boston.

Much information was given as to channel improvement. The average absorbent flow of about New York is but one foot while that of Boston is ten, hence the need of deeper and well defined channels from the outer harbor to dockage.

Mr. McNary also spoke with much interest of the Panama canal which will revolutionize the carrying of freight and merchandise which Boston is now free from four to six weeks away from San Francisco and the Panama canal will bring it within fifteen days from the point of shipment and foreign countries are even now preparing to get a share of this traffic by building merchant marine, especially for the Pacific and Atlantic traffic.

Of this interesting talk came all too soon an end and the speaker was warmly congratulated on the masterly portrayal of this important subject.

Reception to Old Commanders.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Loring of East Braintree gave a reception to the old commanders of Co. A, First Infantry, Mass.
Artillery Mass. Volunteers in the Civil War of which Commander Loring was First Sergeant. Eleven commanders were present from Ipswich, Rowley, Randolph, Duxbury, West Newbury, Amesbury, Andover, Haverhill, Lynn, Lynnfield and Plymouth. Owing to the recent illness of Mr. Loring he could not feel equal to the effort of getting up on the stage and the president of the Battalion, so it was decided to invite a few of the boys to his home on Front Street, East Braintree, on Wednesday, Oct. 2, 1912. Eleven members responded to the invitation whose ages ranged from 80 to 90. A very pleasant and interesting day was spent and the veterans who expressed the wish that before another year should pass Commander Loring would be able to carry out his usual program of reunion which he has done for the past twenty five years. The boys honored Commander Loring by electing him President of the Battalion. A collation was served by Mrs. Loring which was thoroughly appreciated by the boys.

Paul Poehler at C. M. A.

Last Monday evening was the opening night of the bowling season at the Clapp Memorial building in East Weymouth and the number of ladies present in the bowling alley to witness Paul Poehler the champion candle pin roller of New England.
Three bowlers from the Norfolk club made up a team and rolled against two C. M. A. rollers and Mr. Poehler. The bowling champion was easily defeated by 123 in his first string. After that however, luck was against him and his highest string was 114 for the rest of the evening. Contrary to expectation Mr.
Poehler did not roll a specially ball and stated that he had a very hard time to roll at medium speed was the best ball to use.
He showed his skill by hitting single pins and coming out with a low score. It was the unanimous opinion of the "fans" present that the man who beats Mr. Poehler will have to travel at top speed. A large number of ladies were present to witness the bowling, besides a good gathering of boys from East and South Weymouth. The evening's entertainment was in charge of the bowling committee consisting of Charles K. Denbroeder, Arthur Cunningham, W. Lincoln Pratt, Fred Richinson and B. J. Elkington.

ON THE FARM

This Column Alone Cost Us More
Than $200. A Year. You Can
Have it a Year for $2.00 and the Rest of the Paper for Nothing.

Remove the seeds from the pumpkins before feeding them to the cattle.

Ducks do not stand confinement well.

Better turn 'em loose.

It is the nervous, eager, hungry, jostling, rustling, scratching, singing, cackling hen that most helps to fill the egg basket.

Remember when you plow in the orchard that the roots are very near the surface. Three inches is plenty deep enough.

The cultivating season is over and all tools should be cleaned up and housed.
One winter's exposure to the weather will be more harm than several years' use.

Time is saved by doing now much of the work usually done in the busy spring, such as hauling stones, clearing away trees and brush, fixing the grape arbor, etc.

One of the most important duties at this season is to cull out the youngsters and discard all the runt, puny specimens.
Keep only the best and you will make a better profit this winter, when prices are high.

Rough timber used in the poultry house makes the best harbor for lice. Perches, nests, etc., should be made of smooth lumber in all cases.

The asparagus beetle has nearly destroyed the asparagus industry in some localities. Many remedies have been suggested, among them applying lime freely over the bed late in the fall after the tops and bed have been burnt over, with another liberal application of lime in the spring.

Young chickens, like young people, have more or less timidity, and therefore it is not well to run young and old together, at least it is much better to have them separate if you can well do so.
Then, again, the pullets are still growing and they need plenty of flesh-forming feed, such as barley, bone, meat, with less of fattening foods.

Soft-shelled eggs indicate that the hens are not in a good physical condition, and that they are not receiving the right kind of feed. When hens are healthy and supplied with a variety of feed, including mineral matter, they will lay eggs with good hard shells.

It is not good farming to spread over two acres the work and manure necessary for one, even if you double your production of grain. Good farming would put the work and manure of two acres on one, and thus cause the one acre to produce the crop of the two. The one may be called "diffuse" farming and is entirely too thin; the other "intense" farming and will double the profit. It can never become too common.

The fall of the year is the best time to fertilize the garden and truck patches. At this season fresh as well as rotten manure will decompose during the winter and be mild for working into the soil in spring. After truck and garden crops have been removed, it is a good plan to plow the soil deeply and turn in the poultry to scratch over and pick out insect larvae. Some of these burrow into soil for winter, and plowing turns them out.

Where a garden has been used constantly for years or where the trees that naturally creep into the plot supposed to be devoted exclusively to vegetables are getting too large for convenience in cultivation it is advisable to begin several years in advance to get a new garden ready and fall is the ideal season for this work, says the "Country Gentleman." The new location should be convenient to the house, sunny, well drained and of as good soil as possible. At least two seasons should be spent in getting it into shape.

For a number of years the scientific investigators have been arguing that a bird —almost any bird, in fact—was worth a good deal more to the country alive than dead; worth more in the glorious freedom of its habitat than on my lady's hat or on the plate of the epicure. Nor is this argument based on mere transcendentalism.
It has been shown by the dissection of birds and the examination of their stomachs just what seeds and insects they eat.
These examinations have made it clear that most birds live mostly on the seeds of pernicious weeds, and on the insect and small mammal pests against which the farmer has to wage an increasing fight every year.

The Setting.

[Written for the Gazette and Transcript.]

It matters not how perfect a precious gem may be, the setting affects its beauty and appeal. As men do not light a candle and put it under a bushel, no more do jewelers disguise the quality of their jewelers by inadequate mounts.

A house may be costly and architecturally without fault, yet fail to please the eye because its surroundings are inharmonious. The proper setting for a house of given proportions may require a deal of thought and study. That is why landscape gardening has become a profitable profession. People who are not conversant with the laws of symmetry are glad to pay some one to lay out their premises on the right lines.

There is an analogy to all this in the way the setting may make or mar the beauty of a life.

The life of many a mother is truly a thing of beauty, but many of them pass unnoticed, because the setting fails to emphasize their good qualities.

Suppose a mother devotes all her time to the care of her house and maids and the training of her children, that is a beautiful thing, but if to her family and friends she appears to be harassed by her cares and soured by her constant self-sacrifice, the beauty of her life is dimmed.

What shall it profit a woman if her house be in perfect order, but her own spirit is ruffled by the task? There is such a thing as misinterpreting one's duty.

It is a mother's duty to be companionable to her children. Obviously she is not fulfilling that duty if her cares leave her snappy and nervous.

If you take the trouble to notice, you will find out that the most successful mothers are the ones who are not completely bound up in their own affairs.

The mother who cultivates a love for baseball, for her son's sake, and is not too busy on a Saturday afternoon to go and watch that son pitch a good game for his school team, comes nearer to fulfilling her duty to him than if she shut herself in room to make him a new set of shirts.

The mother, on the other hand, who reads in the paper that her son was the lion of an occasion and that his mates carried him home on their shoulders, may feel a bit resentful that he didn't tell her about it. But why should he? Experience has taught him that she is more interested in her own affairs than in his.

Her talk at table is of her disagreement with the maid, her exasperation with the greener's boy and the starvation prospects for the winter if eggs continue to advance.

That is the secret of the whole trouble;
we talk of our own affairs too much.

School teachers are proverbial "shop" talkers, but they are by no means the only offenders. Few people are without the habit.

Those who have escaped it have generally done so by means of an avocation, a hobby, if you will, which has given them an outside interest.

Let the teacher, outside of her professional hours, be a student of art; the stenographer a lover of birds. Let the mother follow her children's interests that she may talk with them. Let every one of us cultivate an avocation as different as possible from our bread and butter job, that we may have more than a one-sided development.

This new interest will be the background against which our lives shall show to best advantage; the setting which shall enhance the value of our everyday lives.

EVYLYN EARLE.

ON THE FARM

This Column Alone Cost Us More Than $200. a Year. You Can Have it a Year for $2.00 and the Rest of the Paper for Nothing. Sell off the scrub chickens and have only one breed.

Most old orchards need manure, and the time to apply it is late in the summer or in the fall.

An ideal bird for winter egg production is a pullet mated about November 1st, which is strong and vigorous and is of a good laying strain.

The fall, after all of the garden plants have been killed, is the best time to clean up the trash in the garden and burn it to prevent insects from spending the winter in it and be ready to lay eggs next year.

The cultivating season is over and all tools should be cleaned up and housed. One winter's exposure to the weather will do more harm than several years' use.

The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in it than any other fruit. It is easily digested and its action on the system is healthy and sound and thoroughly invigorates the mouth.

An imported disease menaces our potato industry. This is known as the potato wart, and is caused by an imported fungus or insect which ultimately reduces every particle of food in the potato to a soft black mass and makes it unfit for food.

The asparagus beetle has nearly destroyed the asparagus industry in some localities. Many remedies have been suggested, among them applying lime, spraying the bed late in the fall, after the tops and bed have been burnt over, with another liberal application of lime in the spring.

A good balanced ration may be made of alfalfa or clover hay, silage, corn or corn meal. These may be fed in balanced quantity and the dairyman will soon see the quantity required after feeding a short time. Thirty-five to 40 pounds of corn silage per day, according to the size of the cow, are enough.

In furnishing eggs to private trade, be careful and honest to give honest value in cleanliness and freshness of product. Customers soon learn to know the quality of your goods, and if you can always supply the best quality of eggs, you will get the best prices. Doubtful dealers in eggs soon go begging for trade.

When starting a flock of poultry in the spring or early summer, one may choose between purchasing eggs for hatching baby chicks, half-grown birds, or mature fowls. In the fall there is no choice. Well-developed stock must be secured. However, this forces the beginner to gain more or less practical experience in handling the birds and get "poultry wise" before attempting the more difficult, and sometimes discouraging work of rearing good chicks. Another advantage lies in the fact that the cost of mature stock may prove a factor in inducing one to start on a small scale.

Farmers in this country are divided into two distinct classes—the prosperous and the unprosperous. The prosperous farmer never depends upon one crop to bring him a revenue, but plants a variety. He also has good live stock and he grows every vegetable and all the fruit his family consumes and raises his own chickens. The unprosperous farmer plants only one thing and depends absolutely upon that to furnish him with money to pay his expenses. He never thinks of such a thing as wasting his time on a garden. Chickens are too great a temptation and he has too much trouble for him to raise. He is constantly crying "hard times" and complaining that "luck" is against him.—Hampden (Ky.) Journal.

Farming as an occupation is not what it was a generation or two ago. Time has changed conditions, as in other lines of business. The farmer is still a farmer, but his point of view has changed, and the point of view of people in other lines of business has changed in relation to the farmer. He has not necessarily made himself what he is, but time and conditions have. He has evolved with others in the general evolution of things. But any person in any class has the power in his own hands of making a part at least of his environment, his atmosphere and standing in the world. He is the architect of his own fortune, whether he be a farmer or freight train conductor.

Have it a Year for $2.00 and the Rest of the Paper for Nothing.

A hog to be fattened cheapest, and in the shortest time, should constantly be fed to the full, and fed regularly at about the same hours daily.

After the fruit harvest in the orchard, go over the trees and grounds and pick up and destroy all worthless, rotten and wormy fruit.

Shrinkage in milk, in pigs in the udder, sowing coat can all be brought on by one night on the frosty ground. All this means loss of hard cash. It doesn't pay.

Take care of the plow. Get them under cover. Clean and grease bright parts so that when wanted next spring they will start and save the time so many farmers lose in putting their implements into working order.

There are a number of "reasons" why autumn is surely the best season for transplanting. Among shrubberies and flower borders it is much easier to judge now, where to plant new things, than when the other plants have died down, and no "landmarks" are left to show where they grew, as is the case in very early spring.

This is a good time to again clean the poultry house. Take out the roosts, dropping boards, nest boxes and feed hoppers, as well as loose articles that may be therein and thoroughly scrape them.

Brush down the interior walls of the house and with a brush or spray, wash the interior thoroughly and apply a coat of whitewash with 2 percent of carbolic acid to the mixture. Make sure that you reach all of the cracks, crevices and knot holes. Remove the upper layer of a dirt floor and fill up with coarse sand or gravel. Wash the windows and leave open to the sun and air.

In regard to the proper time for pruning operations Dr. Jarvis calls attention to the following facts: "Regular annual pruning once in three or four years up-sets the equilibrium of the tree, and in the long run is not economical. As a rule pruning should be done while the tree is dormant. Some prefer to prune in the early spring for the reason that wounds made at this time usually heal more readily. If the work is started in the fall it is more likely to get the attention that it deserves, and when the first suitable days for spraying arrive the trees will be ready."

WHY THE SILE?

1. Because corn ensilage is the nearest and most economical substitute for pasture grass, which is the most ideal of all own rations.

2. That an acre of corn ensilage yields from 600 to 2,000 pounds more nutrients than any other of the crops.

3. That there is a great economy of space in its use.

4. That its use makes it more pleasant to feed stock and also saves a great deal of time and labor.

5. Because with its use in the winter pruning larger fields and milk flows are the result.

6. With its use practically the entire feed value of the corn crop is saved.

7. That the silo enables the farmer to keep double the number of head of stock

on the farm.

8. That fields are cleared and ready for the wheat or rye, as all cornstalks are safely stored in silo instead of going to waste in the field.

9. And lastly, and probably the most convincing of all, is the fact that practically every farmer now using the silo would not do without it. When we can grow and store away for winter use a feed that takes the place of our pasture and that feed can be raised on our farms at a less cost than any of our present feeds the equipment for the storing of such feed should be installed on every stock and dairy farm—Denver Field and Farm.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound in your hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed. For every nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is not ing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars,
